

BCAA Workshops March 19, 2022

Intro to Drawing 10:30 to 12:30

Using the natural world as our focus, students will learn how to compose and create a drawing of locally sourced flowers using a variety of techniques for layering graphite pencil. We will also cover techniques for developing a keen sense of observation and a mindful approach to capturing our floral subjects.

Intro to Watercolors 2:00 to 4:00

Students will learn how to begin a watercolor using locally sourced flowers as our inspiration. This class covers different styles of applying watercolor paint to paper and is enhanced by techniques in conscious awareness that are a helpful tool for all artistic pursuits.

About the Teacher

Molly Reeder is a Richmond-based painter and stylist specializing in botanicals and food illustration. She paints large-scale, detailed watercolors of edible plant-based subjects to highlight their unique shape and beauty. Molly spent many years traveling and living across the world. She is inspired by food ancestry, plants, and the human connection and narrative within these.
